

Families

A printable book

Hi, I'm Jen! Thanks for downloading my "Families" printable book. This product is copyrighted and is intended for use by one individual user or classroom only. You can make copies for your own personal use or for a classroom, but the product cannot be shared in any other way. If your colleagues or friends would like to purchase this product, please refer them to my store: <http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Store/Joyful-Explorations>

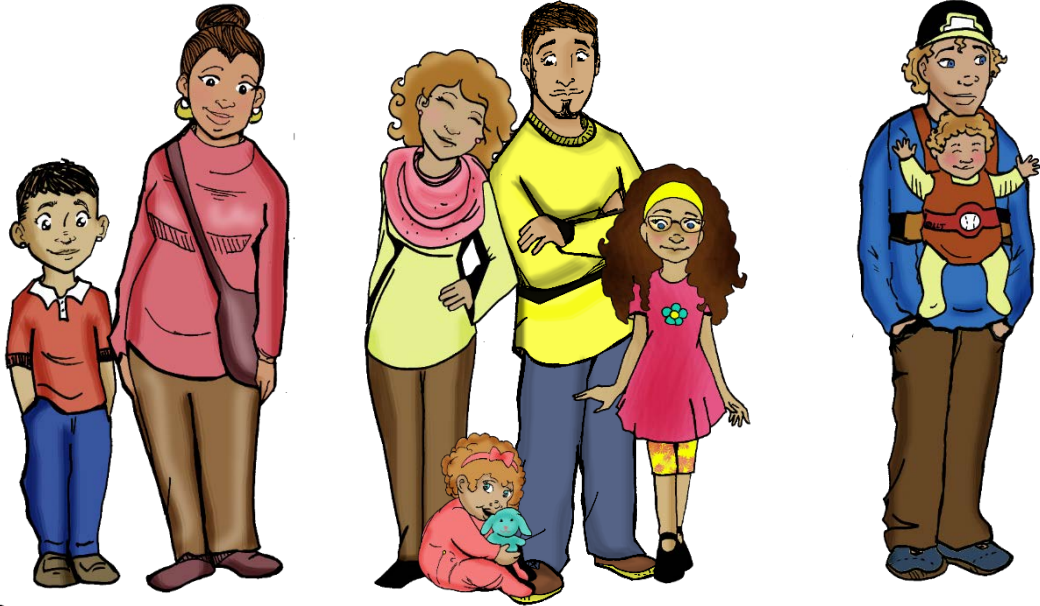

To assemble the book, simply cut across the dotted line and staple the pages together along the left hand side.

Illustrations And Fonts By:

Families

My name is Carla. This is my family. In my family, there are four people. There is a Mama, a Papa, a baby sister, named Rose, and me.

In our family, my baby sister looks like my Mama. I look like my Papa. But I noticed that some families are different than ours.

My cousin Jia has a Mom and a Dad, but she doesn't look like either of them. Jia's parents adopted her when she was a baby.

My friend Paulo doesn't have a mother or a father in his family. He lives with his Abuela, his grandmother.

My neighbor, Robby, lives by himself. His baby, Jackson, visits him on the weekends.

Diego, a boy in my school, lives with his Uncle Joe and his Grandpop.

A girl from my class named Megan has two mothers. She calls one of them Mom and the other Mommy.

My friend Jade lives with her Mom. Her father lives far away, but he still loves her.

My Uncle Michael and Aunt Angela don't have any children yet but they will have a baby soon.

Eric, a boy who rides the school bus with me, has two families. He lives with his Mama for part of the week and he lives with his Daddy, Stepmom and their baby on the other days.

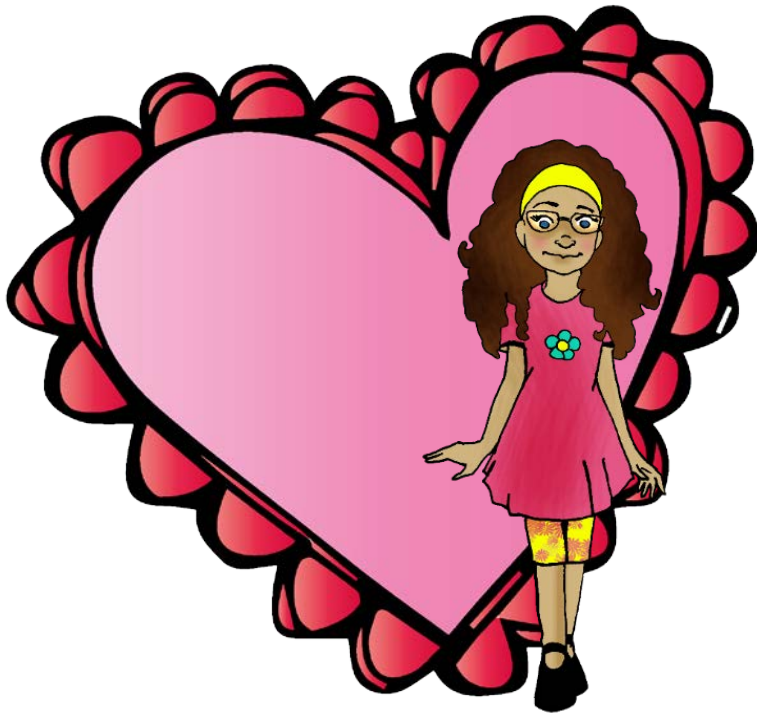

My friends Tyler, Sophie and Olivia live with their foster parents. Sometimes parents can't take care of their children, so foster parents like Mr. and Mrs. Robinson take care of them.

My friend Jaden lives with his two dads and his baby brother.

My best friend, Gabby, lived with her grandparents last year while her dad was in the army. Now he's back home and she lives with him again.

I think it's great that there are all kinds of families. A family is the people who love you!
